Communications Technician

A responsible role for a self-starter in Chetwynd

If you are a proven contributor to a team environment, hold a valid driver's licence and can multi-task, change duties quickly, and work all shifts, consider joining our Grizzly Valley operations. Comfortable carrying out your daily activities with minimal supervision and support, you will be responsible for the area communications networks, including their maintenance. Graduation from a Technologist/Technician Program in Communications is essential. Ideally, you're a member of a professional association and a qualified Red Seal Tradesperson in your field, with 3 years' experience in the oil & gas industry within a sour gas environment. You will also have worked with VHF/UHF radio systems, with microwave radio and on PABX systems.
